

957-28-73

Patrick Muldowney (P.Muldowney@ulst.ac.uk), Magee College, University of Ulster, Northland Road, BT48 7JL Derry, No Ireland, and Wojciech Wojdowski* (woj@ck-sg.p.lodz.pl), Institute of Mathematics, Technical University of Lodz, Al. Politechniki 11, 90-924 Lodz, Poland. Non-absolute integration in Black-Scholes pricing.

Henstock integrals of functions with infinite-dimensional domains give simpler models for stochastic processes than Itô differentials do. This is illustrated by a study of the Black-Scholes theory of derivative asset pricing. (Received June 21, 2000)